

Portrait Photography

aCoolDryPlace Photography

Whether you have requested a portrait yourself or have been bought a sitting as a gift, we aim to make you look your best and produce a portrait you would be proud to display.

Portraits are done using natural light at a location of your choice. This could be at your home, your work or outside at your favourite location¹. Studio sittings can be arranged if you would prefer, although these are at extra cost.

In a typical portrait session we will try a number of poses and locations (at the one main location). If you have a particular portrait idea in mind, the photographer will be happy to hear your suggestions and discuss them with you – the aim of the session is to get a portrait that you like.

Portrait session gift vouchers

A portrait can make an excellent gift, particularly for a notable occasion such as a significant birthday, an engagement or a new addition to the family.

To make a session easier to give, we have gift vouchers for portrait sessions available to purchase via our website. These vouchers can be delivery to you (so that you can include them in a card) or directly to your intended recipient.
